Introduction

Ce rapport annuel du Centre Métropolis Atlantique fait état des activités entre le 1er avril 2007 et le 31 mars 2008. Il marque également une nouvelle phase dans l'évolution du projet Métropolis (2007-2012). Cette première année de la phase III a été très riche pour le CMA, notamment en raison de l'organisation de la 10e conférence nationale Métropolis à Halifax du 3 au 6 avril. Tenu pour la première fois au Canada atlantique, cet événement a suscité beaucoup d'intérêt de la part des chercheurs universitaires, de représentants gouvernementaux et d'organisations non-gouvernementales qui sont venus nombreux à Halifax. Deux activités pré-conférence ont également permis de cibler certaines problématique, soit l'immigration et la diversité au sein des communautés francophones en situation minoritaire et les enjeux autour de la migration des famille.

Créé en janvier 2004, le Centre Métropolis Atlantique présente les perspectives et les préoccupations de la région atlantique relatives aux politiques stratégiques nationales du projet Metropolis et de ses partenaires fédéraux. Le CMA est affilié à quatre autres centres Metropolis (établis en 1996) et il fait partie d'un réseau transnational lié au projet Metropolis international.

Le CMA œuvre dans les deux langues officielles à partir des bureaux de Halifax et de Moncton, favorisant la promotion d'un dialogue entre les communautés de langues et de juridictions diverses. Forts de l'acquis des universités de la région, les huit groupes ou domaines de recherche régionaux du Centre permettent de rassembler des chercheurs, des organismes communautaires, des fournisseurs de service aux immigrants ainsi que des responsables de l'élaboration des politiques sur le plan municipal, provincial et fédéral (voir les résumés des domaines à l'annexe 1).

Le CMA a pour but principal de contribuer à l'élargissement des connaissances relatives aux politiques et aux tendances dans le secteur de l'immigration, aux changements et aux migrations de la population ainsi qu'aux priorités et aux programmes relatifs à l'immigration sur le plan régional et national. Étant donné que l'immigration devient depuis quelques années une plus grande préoccupation au Canada atlantique et une réalité plus connue, le CMA concentre ses efforts sur l'attraction, l'intégration et la rétention des nouveaux immigrants dans les communautés anglophones et francophones.

Partie I : Objectifs du centre

A. Centre Objectives for 2007- 2008

- Organize and host the 10th National Metropolis Conference in Halifax, Nova Scotia, April 3-6, 2008. This is the first national conference of Phase III and the first to be held in Atlantic Canada.
- Involve students, research affiliates, stakeholders and partner organizations in the planning and execution of the 10th National Metropolis Conference, thus providing training opportunities for students and allowing for input from partners.
- Develop new research domains aligned with the federal policy research priorities of Phase III of the Metropolis Project. This involves reducing the number of domains from six to five, and welcoming three new domain leaders to the roster.
- Foster the development of robust research networks which extend throughout Atlantic Canada, across the country and internationally. These networks include community organizations and policy makers in addition to academic researchers, and provide an interface for pursuing the AMC mandate of policy-relevant research addressing immigration, diversity and population migrations.
- Provide infrastructure and support to the AMC-affiliated researchers who received grants from AMC core research funding, and who attracted additional research funding of $566,220 in the 2007-08 fiscal year in order to help them move their projects forward and bring them to fruition.
- Enhance student training and access to educational opportunities in the fields of immigration and diversity studies. This objective is achieved through the AMC Grant Competition, subsidies for students to attend conferences and the Policy Research Symposium, domain-based employment on AMC-funded research projects, and by other means.
- Streamline and improve knowledge dissemination capabilities through the expansion of the Working Paper Series, improvements to the website and the creation of a monthly Electronic Bulletin which contains information on upcoming events, including lectures and conferences, research resources and publications, and calls for proposals.
- Award $105,000 to high-quality and innovative research projects addressing the six federal policy research priorities through the third annual AMC Grant Competition. The AMC aims to attract new research affiliates from universities across all four Atlantic Provinces through this competition.

B. Overview of Key Center Activities

10th National Metropolis Conference

The Atlantic Metropolis Centre organized and hosted the 10th National Metropolis Conference at the World Trade and Convention Centre in Halifax. The theme of the conference, which took place April 3 to 6, 2008, was “Expanding the Debate: Multiple Perspectives on Immigration to Canada.” The conference attracted over 960 participants from across the country and beyond to discuss issues related to immigration, settlement, diversity and multiculturalism in Canada. During plenary sessions, presentation, roundtable and training workshops, poster presentations and a variety of social and pre-conference events, participants from across the community and government sectors and a variety of academic disciplines shared research findings, made connections, developed directions for future work and learned about and contributed to the Metropolis network. As the largest event of its kind ever held in Atlantic Canada, and on par with the major national and international conferences, this was an important event for the region and for the Atlantic Metropolis Centre.

Cross-Domain Project

The Centre’s Cross-Domain Project, Profiles of Immigrant Communities in Atlantic Canada: The role of networks in attracting, retaining and integrating immigrant men and women in Atlantic Canada, headed by Nicole Gallant, (formerly of Université de Moncton, currently at IRNS, Université de Québec), continued in 2007-08. Phase II (individual interviews) was nearing completion at the end of the fiscal year. The analysis of Phase I data from focus groups in the four field sites the research team published a series of articles in the Atlantic Edition of Our Diverse Cities (Spring, 2008).

The AMC Data Initiative

The AMC Data Initiative project was completed prior to the beginning of the fiscal year, but it was presented at the AMC Research Symposium in St. John’s in May. Project PI Howard Ramos and researcher Yoko Yoshida prepared an environmental scan of data related to immigration. Dr. Ramos subsequently organized training workshops on data access at the 10th National Metropolis Conference and the “Introduction to Strata” workshop in conjunction with the ARDC at Dalhousie University in January, 2008. In 2008 the AMC Data Committee will be restructured.

Atlantic Immigration and Diversity Research Archive (AIDRA)

The Atlantic Immigration and Diversity Research Archive (AIDRA) project was completed during the summer of 2007, with funding from ACOA, Canadian Heritage, the NS Office of Immigration, and the Atlantic Metropolis Centre. The AIDRA is a searchable online database of Atlantic-based immigration-related research. It is the result of extensive consultation with AMC partners across sectors and research conducted by AMC staff and domain-based research assistants. Users may now access the AIDRA through the Atlantic Metropolis Centre website. In 2008-2009, the AMC intends to hire a web expert to fine tune the search functions of the AIDRA.

2007-2008 Grants Competition and Peer Review Process

The AMC held a third competition to award $105,000 allocated for grants in the yearly budget. The AMC invited submissions addressing the six federal priority areas of the National Metropolis Project, as well as the overarching theme of the Atlantic Metropolis Centre: Attraction, Retention and Integration of Immigrants to Atlantic Canada. For the list of the 3 Strategic and 10 Pilot Grants awarded, see Appendix 2 (also available from the AMC website). This year's grants competition was effective in attracting new researchers to affiliate with the AMC, both from the Centre's lead universities, and from regional institutions such as Mount Allison University. Two of the three Strategic Grants were awarded to researchers who are new affiliates of the AMC. The grants competition has also provided funding to a large number of graduate and senior honours students for work on a range of projects (see Appendix 11).

Working Paper Series

Researchers at the AMC produced 4 working papers in 2007-08 – a listing is provided in Part III, D.

AMC Open House

The AMC Halifax office held an "Open House" on December 7th, 2007. This event was attended by approximately 50 people, including representatives of NGO partner organizations, government partners, and the Academic Vice-Presidents of the lead universities.

PART II: Knowledge Transfer/ Mobilization Activities

A. 10th National Metropolis Conference

The Atlantic Metropolis Centre organized the 10th National Metropolis Conference, entitled "Expanding the Debate: Multiple Perspectives on Immigration to Canada." The event took place at the World Trade and Convention Centre in Halifax, from April 3 to 6, 2008. The conference was both the first national conference to be held in Atlantic Canada, and the first national conference of Phase III of the Metropolis Project. It brought together over 960 academic researchers, policymakers, and representatives from non-governmental organizations and students from across the country and beyond to discuss issues relating to immigration, population migrations and cultural diversity in Canada. The conference programme included a total of 6 plenary sessions, 72 workshops (12 double-length and 60 single), 27 roundtables and 18 poster presentations. Events which took place in conjunction with the conference include the Graduate Student Professional Development Day, two pre-conference days on francophone migration, a workshop on family migration, study tours and Creative Diversity.

The Atlantic Metropolis Centre Directors, researchers and staff were heavily involved in planning the Conference. Madine VanderPlaat was the Chair of conference planning and Terry Murphy, Chair of the Board of Directors, managed conference fundraising. The AMC Board of Directors and P and D Committees acted in an advisory capacity. The Secretariat provided considerable input towards thematic and programme planning. Due to the small size of the AMC and the fact that it had not previously been involved in the planning of a national conference, an event planning firm, Compart Event Management, was contracted to provide planning services.

There was a significant amount of local, regional and national media coverage of the conference. Coverage highlights included live broadcast of the plenary sessions on CPAC and live on-site interviews with high profile delegates on CBC Radio Nova Scotia. Videos of the plenary sessions are available for viewing on the web and proceedings can be downloaded at the conference website.

Since this year's conference fell in the 2008-09 fiscal year the final budget was not available in time to be included in the Annual Report. However, due to much higher than anticipated registration numbers, expenditures are not expected to exceed revenues. A full budget will be available in summer, 2008 and included in next year's Annual Report.

Please see Appendix 6 for complete information on the conference.

B. Centre and Domain Activities

AMC 2007-08 Policy Research Symposium

The AMC held its 4th Annual Policy Research Symposium (formerly Strategic Planning Retreat), May 14-15, 2007 at Memorial University in St. John's, Newfoundland. The event was attended by approximately 100 researchers, NGO representatives and government partners. Planning assistance was provided by Natasha Clarke of the international students' office at Memorial University and a committee composed of representatives from partner organizations in Newfoundland and Labrador.

The meeting included workshops and presentations addressing the following topics :

- Phase III Research Priorities
- Thematic Planning for the 10th National Conference

- Emerging AMC Initiatives
- Population Issues and the Role of Immigration in Newfoundland and Labrador
- The Newfoundland and Labrador Population Strategy

Participating federal partners included Citizenship and Immigration Canada, Canadian Heritage, Public Safety Canada and others. NGO partners included Halifax Immigrant Learning Centre, Metropolitan Immigrant Settlement Association, The Association for New Canadians of Newfoundland and Labrador, the Daybreak Centre, the Multicultural Association of Nova Scotia, la Fédération acadienne de la Nouvelle-Écosse and Fédération des francophones de TNL, Multicultural Women's Organization of Newfoundland and Labrador, Sharing Our Cultures, MAGMA and others.

AMC Open House

The AMC Halifax office held an "Open House" on December 7th, 2007. This event was attended by approximately 50 people, including representatives of NGO partner organizations, government partners, and the Academic Vice-Presidents of the lead universities. It provided an opportunity for researchers and partners to come together in the AMC office space to meet and network. The Moncton node of the AMC held a similar event on September 19th, 2007.

Conférence de Daniel Salée

Le Centre Métropolis Atlantique, bureau de Moncton, a organisé une conférence de Daniel Salée, professeur de science politique à Concordia University. La conférence, intitulé Sommés-nous vraiment en mesure de répondre aux défis de la diversité ethnoculturelle? Réflexions à partir de la situation québécoise, a porté sur la controverse actuelle autour des pratiques d'accommodement raisonnable au Québec de même que sur les travaux de la Commission Bouchard-Taylor. Elle a également offert une réflexion plus générale sur les limites de la gestion actuelle de la diversité dans les sociétés libérales démocratiques. L'événement a eu lieu le 29 novembre, 2007.

Journées préconférences sur l'immigration francophone

Le bureau de Moncton a également organisé deux journées préconférence autour du thème l'immigration francophone. La première journée, Comment relever les défis de la régionalisation de l'immigration en milieu rural, a eu lieu le 2 et 3 novembre à Pointe à l'Église. Une cinquantaine de personnes ont assisté. La deuxième, Journée de réflexion sur l'immigration francophone, a eu lieu à Moncton le 2 avril.

Where Strangers Become Neighbours Workshop

AMC hosted a workshop by RIIM researchers Leonie Sandercock (UBC) and Paula Carr (Collingwood Neighbourhood House). The workshop, which was held in Halifax on May 8th and Moncton on May 9th, included a screening of the film Where Strangers Become Neighbours. The theme of the workshop was integration through community development. Approximately 45 people were in attendance at both sessions.

Domain Activities

Each of the five research domains participated in the creation of networks, partnerships and continued collaboration with other researchers. The domain leaders and members contributed to knowledge mobilization through a variety of activities including domain-sponsored visiting speakers, round tables and meetings and participation at regional, national and international conferences. The following is a selection of these activities.

Person	Dr. Dante Ang, Chairman Commission on Filipinos Overseas
Event Title	Public lecture: "International Migration from the Philippines: Causes and Consequences" organized by Pauline Gardiner Barber
Audience	Everyone
Nature of Involvement	Presenter
Date, Location	Dalhousie University, Lord Dalhousie Room
Type of Event	Public Lecture and lunch

Person	Sylvia Kasparian
Event Title	Soirée muticulturelle, projection de film et lancement de Thèmes Canadiens
Audience	Everyone
Nature of Involvement	Organizer
Date, Location	April 2008, Journée pré-conférence, Moncton
Type of Event	Pré-conférence

Person	Barry Edmonston
Event Title	"Population and immigration in New Brunswick" organized by Ather Akbari and Ted McDonald
Audience	Everyone
Nature of Involvement	Presenter
Date, Location	Saint John, April 2007
Presentation Title	Population change in New Brunswick
Type of Event	Public Lecture

Person	Alexandra Dobrowolsky and Evangelia Tastoglou
Event Title	Guest Lecture by: Dr. Xanthi Petrinioti (Department of International and European Studies, Panteion University, Athens; Co-Director of the Mediterranean Migration Observatory)
Audience	Everyone
Nature of Involvement	Organizers and Attendees

Date, Location	January 30, 2008, Saint Mary's University
Presentation Title	"South European 'New Migration': Cross-Cutting Axes of Analyses"
Type of Event	Seminar and Public Presentation

Person	Chris Murphy
Event Title	Participation in "Policing, Justice and Security: Building an Empirical Evidence Base"
Audience	Everyone
Date, Location	Ottawa, ON, February 25-27, 2008
Type of Event	Priority area seminar

A more detailed and comprehensive list of collaboration and knowledge transfer activities engaged in by the AMC and by domains is available in Appendix 5.

C. Website

During 2007-08, the AMC expanded its capacity to disseminate research findings and various other forms of information on its website. In July, 2007 the AMC hired a new webmaster, Franklin Fezeu, to work for the centre on a part-time casual basis. Mr. Fezeu was hired while still a student in the computing science program at Dalhousie University and has since graduated. He has made several important changes to the website, streamlining the front page and events section. The website is the first point of contact with the AMC for many people, and it plays an important role in the transfer of research findings as a repository for working papers and other reports. A major overhaul of the website is planned in 2008.

D. Newsletter

In 2007, the AMC reviewed the effectiveness of its conventional paper newsletter, of which only two issues had appeared since 2004. The decision was made to discontinue this newsletter and replace it with a monthly electronic bulletin similar to those distributed by the other Metropolis Centres. The first issue of the AMC Monthly Bulletin was scheduled to be launched May 1st. In the interim, the AMC regularly communicated updates, especially with regard to the 10th National Metropolis Conference, through its extensive email network.

E. Media Coverage

AMC Researchers and affiliates are engaged in research and policy debates which are of significant interest to the public and are regularly asked to provide commentary in the media. In 2007-08 domain leaders and directors were interviewed as experts on such emerging issues as the release of the 2006 Canadian Census data and the Nova Scotia nominee programme. The 10th National Metropolis Conference was of significant interest to local and regional media. The CBC radio program Information Morning broadcast live from the conference on Friday, April 4th and a number of conference delegates, including

NGO affiliate Claudette Legault (MISA), and Directors Madine VanderPlaat and Chedly Belkhodja were interviewed.

Part III: Research

A. Research Projects Supported by Centre Funds: Faculty

In September, 2007 a Call for Proposals was launched for strategic grants of up to $20,000 as well as pilot projects up to a maximum of $5,000. Based on the recommendations of an external review committee, a total of 13 projects were supported. For the complete list, see Appendix 3. Funded projects include:

“La participation citoyenne chez les jeunes immigrants et leurs parents en milieu minoritaire francophone au Nouveau-Brunswick” Chercheuse principale: Aicha Benimmas, Université de Moncton – Enseignement au secondaire et des ressources humaines

“Arabic Speaking Immigrant Women in NS: A Study of Their Knowledge, Beliefs, Perceptions and Attitudes Towards Breast and Cervical Cancer and Screening” Principal investigator: Susan Brigham (and student Maha Abdelrahman Amin), Mount Saint Vincent University – Department of Education.

“Meeting Immigrant Family Housing Needs: Connecting Planning Policy and Urban Design” Principal investigator: Frank Palermo, Dalhousie University – Faculty of Architecture and Planning.

“Who Comes, Who Stays, and at What Cost?: An Ethnographic and Political Analysis of Nova Scotia's Nominee Program”, Pauline Gardiner Barber & Alexandra Dobrowolsky, Dalhousie University – Department of Sociology and Social Anthropology

Individual domains also continued to support within-Domain projects. An example of such a project is the following:

« Les minorités dans les préoccupations gouvernementales: une étude des discours du trône dans 4 provinces. » Nicole Gallant, IRNS.

For a complete list of AMC and Domain funded research projects see Appendix 10.

B. Additional Research Funding Attracted by AMC Researchers

In 2007-08, researchers affiliated with the AMC secured $258,000 in new external funding. This combined with the $308,220 in existing funding totals $566,220 in ongoing grant activity. This figure is significantly lower than that reported last year, in large part because a number of major projects were completed prior to April 1st, 2007. A detailed list of externally-funded projects is presented in Appendix 13.

C. Research Outputs

In 2007-08 researchers affiliated with the AMC produced 1 book (with 5 submitted), 9 book chapters (with 8 accepted for publication and 1 submitted), 16 journal articles (6 accepted for publication and 5 submitted), 4 Working Papers and 21 reports. A full list of publications is included in Appendix 3. A sample of these publications include:

Ather H. Akbari, Scott Lynch, James Ted McDonald, and Wimal Rankaduwa (2007) Socioeconomic and demographic profiles of immigrants in Atlantic Canada. Atlantic Metropolis Centre project report, funded by AMC partners.

Barber, Pauline Gardiner (2008) "The Ideal Immigrant?: Gendered Class Subjects in Philippine-Canada Migration". Special Issue, Global Migration: New Issues, New Politics? Third World Quarterly (Submitted 2008).

Dobrowolsky, Alexandra. "Interrogating 'Invisibilization' and 'Instrumentalization: Women and Current Citizenship Trends in Canada.'" Citizenship Studies (forthcoming Fall 2008)

Flint, J. David (2008) "Recent Immigrants in a Rural Nova Scotia County: A tentative typology". Our Diverse Cities: No. 5 Spring.

Kasparian, Sylvie (2008) "Pour un model nouveau d'accueil et d'intégration des immigrants francophones en milieu minoritaire". Canadian Issues, Spring 2008.

D. Working Papers Series

The AMC published 4 working papers in 2007-2008. These include:

Akbari, Ather and Jennifer S. Harrington (2007) Initial Location Choice of New Immigrants to Canada. Atlantic Metropolis Centre Working Paper Series No. 5

Stone, Marjorie and Hélène Destrempes (2007) Immigrants and Cultural Citizenship: Rights, Responsibilities and Indicators. Atlantic Metropolis Centre Working Paper Series No. 6

Several working papers are forthcoming in 2008. A complete listing of Working Papers published and forthcoming can be found in Appendix 4.

PART IV: Networks and Partnerships

A. Regional and National Partnerships, Collaborations and Networking

The AMC engages in partnership, collaboration and networking activities aimed at developing research capacity, increasing the profile of the centre, leveraging research funds, and extending the research network. These activities, at both the centre and domain level, extend beyond the events listed in Part 2, section B. Staff from the Halifax AMC office participated in meetings of the Multicultural Networking Committee hosted by Canadian Heritage. Chedly Belkhodja and Lachlan Barber (AMC Coordinator) attended the ARAISA Conference in Halifax in November. Marguerite Cassin met with representatives of provincial and federal government departments to explore directions for research and collaboration. All of the domain leaders engage with academic, government and NGO partners locally and nationally on a regular basis, both through the domain committees and in project-based research work.

B. Governance Partners

The AMC provides for direct input into Centre planning and activities to government policy makers, representatives of the lead universities, and NGOs through their memberships on the Centre's Board of Directors, its Program and Dissemination Committee (the central planning committee of the Centre), and its Domain Committees. Membership on the 2007-2008 Board of Directors and P&D Committee can be found in Appendices 7 and 8 respectively. For a complete list of the AMC's government and NGO partners, see Appendix 9. The AMC structure of governance also provides for government and NGO membership on its peer-review Research Evaluation Committee. For more complete information see Appendix 1 (AMC Domains), Appendix 5 (Knowledge Transfer Activities) and Appendix 9 (Partners).

C. International Linkages and Collaborations

AMC Researchers continued to expand networks internationally and strategically build linkages with colleagues working on migration issues in a number of countries in Europe, Africa, Asia and Australasia.

The leaders of the Citizenship and Social, Cultural and Civic Integration Domain, Pauline Gardiner Barber and Ibrahim Ouattara, are both working on projects which involve research overseas. Dr. Gardiner-Barber travelled to Brussels for the Dalhousie-based project on Migration in the European Union. There she met with representatives from the Canadian Commission to the EU, the Migration Policy Research Group, and the Centre pour l'égalité des chances et la lutte contre le racisme. Dr. Gardiner Barber also travelled to Manila, Philippines to conduct field work for her project entitled "Performed Subordination: Global Migration and New Economic Subjectivities."

Evie Tastsoglou was involved in a team organizing an international conference in Athens, in her capacity as President-Elect of the International Sociological Association, Research Committee on Women in Society. The conference was "Women and Citizenship in a Local / Global World" (May 31-June 1, 2007) and was co-sponsored by ISA / RC 32 and the National Institute for Social Research (EKKE), Athens, Greece, under the auspices of the General Secretariat for Gender Equality of the Greek Government.

Evie Tastoglou, Alexandra Dobrowolsky and Pauline Gardiner Barber also organized events in Halifax with colleagues from overseas. These events include a public lecture by Dr. Xanthi Petrinioti (Department of International and European Studies, Panteion University, Athens; Co-Director of the Mediterranean Migration Observatory), a talk by Dr. Marta Núñez Sarmiento (Professor, Centre for Studies of International Migrations, University of Havana Cuba) and a lunch-time seminar by Dr. Dante Ang (Chairman, Commission on Filipinos Overseas). These events were partially sponsored by AMC and Research Domain funds.

Chedly Belkhodja a développé des collaborations avec des chercheurs au Burkina Faso (Alkassoum Maiga, Savadogo Ouedraego), en Tunisie (Hamadi Rdisi), en Suisse (Claudio Bolzman) et en Belgique (Altay Manço). Il est également impliqué avec Michèle Vatz-Laaroussi de l'Université de Sherbrooke dans le réseau international sur l'immigration en dehors des métropoles.

The three AMC directors as well as domain leader Pauline Gardiner Barber attended the 12th International Metropolis Conference in Melbourne, Australia where they networked with colleagues from around the world. The AMC also provided partial travel subsidies to Mike Clair from the Memorial University Harris Centre and Bridget Foster from the Newfoundland and Labrador Association for New Canadians.

For complete information on international linkages and collaborations, please see Appendix 5 (Knowledge Transfer / Mobilization Activities) and Appendix 13 (External Funding Secured by AMC and Domains).

D. Support from Consortium Universities

The Halifax node of the AMC negotiated an extension to lease of a 987 sq. foot office space in downtown Halifax at the discounted rate of $6000/year. This cost, which is soon to rise, is shared between Saint Mary's University and Dalhousie University. In addition, Saint Mary's pays for fax, telephone and internet as well as providing a photocopier through its lease program. The Moncton node is housed at the Université de Moncton where facilities are provided free of charge.

Each of the partner universities contributes a course release for its domain leaders ($32,000). In addition, Moncton, Dalhousie and Saint Mary's each contribute $8,000 in course releases for the Directors. Saint Mary's also provides accounting and administrative services to the AMC as well as technological support. Dalhousie and Moncton provide financial services, research services and office supplies.

In addition, lead and partner institutions provided travel funding for Centre researchers and fellowship funding for graduate student training.

E. Non-Research Project Specific Funding from Federal Departments

Human Resources and Social Development provided $7000 to the AMC to support student participation at the 10th National Metropolis Conference in Halifax. With this funding, the AMC was able to pay registration costs (and in some cases travel and accommodations) for 18 students from 6 universities across Atlantic Canada.

Canadian Heritage provided $7000 to support the participation of NGO representatives at the 10th National Metropolis Conference in Halifax. With this funding, the AMC offered support to 14 representatives of immigrant-serving agencies and multicultural organizations from all four Atlantic Provinces.

The Metropolis federal partners contributed $31,560 in support towards the 2007 Annual Policy Research Symposium in St. John's, Newfoundland.

PART V: Training Activities

A total of 36 students and 3 non-students were provided with training opportunities in 2007-08 through paid employment and volunteer service. The majority of these individuals were employed as research assistants on AMC or externally-funded research projects. Twelve students volunteered at the 10th National Metropolis Conference in exchange for complimentary registration.

Twenty student theses thematically linked to Metropolis interests or priorities were produced or underway. A sample of theses completed include:

Student	Level	Domain and University	Title
Natasha Hanson	PhD	Dalhousie University	Out-migration from New Brunswick
Carole Fournier	PhD	Université de Sherbrooke	Les représentations sociales des habitants de Saint-Léonard (Nouveau-Brunswick) par rapport à l'immigration qui a lieu dans leur communauté
Monia Bergeron	MBA	Saint Mary's	Interprovincial migration of foreign born and native born in Canada

Katharine Laurie	MA	Saint Mary's	Gender and Transnational Migration: Tracing the Impacts "Home"
Chris Giacomantonio	MA	Dalhousie University	Policing the Commons

A complete list of student research opportunities and theses can be found in Appendix 11.

Part V: Budget Projections for 2008-2009

Office Staff

The proposed budget for office staff in 2008-2009 is as follows:

Halifax Node: $75,000

Moncton Node: $50,000

There were three staff in the Halifax node office. Lachlan Barber worked full-time as the Centre Coordinator and Communications Officer, Rebecca Rolfe worked part-time as the Administrative Assistant and Franklin Fezeu worked on a part-time casual basis as the AMC web master. In the summer of 2008 Lachlan Barber will resign from his post and return to school to pursue his PhD. A new coordinator will be hired. In addition a student intern will be hired fall, 2008 to work on special projects.

In the Moncton node administrative duties were shared by three part-time employees: Tania Duclos, Marie-Lyne Lussier and Debbie Levesque. In September Marie-Lyne and Debbie departed to pursue graduate studies and Eric Thomas was hired.

Research

The 2008-2009 budget for research grants will be distributed as follows:

New Strategic Grant	1 X $50,000 = $50,000
Strategic Grants	2 X $20,000 = $40,000
Pilot Projects	7 X $5,000 = $35,000
Domain Seed	5 X $4,000 = $20,000
	Total = $145,000

The projected budget for 2008-09 is attached as Appendix 12.

APPENDIX 1: RESEARCH DOMAINS

GENDER, MIGRATION AND DIVERSITY/ IMMIGRANT WOMEN

(Addressing the Family, Children and Youth priority)

Dr. Alexandra Dobrowolsky, Dept. of Political Science, Saint Mary's University

Research Domain Objectives:

La capacité d'un pays à recevoir et à intégrer les immigrants, les réfugiés et les membres de minorités repose sur de nombreux facteurs d'ordre social, dont plusieurs peuvent être grandement influencés par les politiques gouvernementales. Cette priorité de recherche permettra de déterminer quels instruments de politique publique sont les plus propices à contribuer à la capacité du Canada, de ses villes et de ses collectivités à recevoir et à intégrer avec succès les immigrants, les réfugiés et les membres de minorités. Elle présentera également l'occasion d'identifier, selon des méthodes empiriques, des pratiques exemplaires qui pourront être adaptées de sorte à être mises en œuvre dans d'autres contextes.

CITIZENSHIP AND SOCIAL, CULTURAL AND CIVIC INTEGRATION / CITOYENNETE ET

Governmental / Community Partners:

Citizenship and Immigration Canada ; Nova Scotia Agricultural College ; Nova Scotia Law Reform Commission ; Halifax Refugee Clinic ; Metropolitan Immigrant Settlement Association ; Halifax Immigrant Learning Centre.

Research Domain Objectives:

Canada's immigration program, like its multicultural approach to inclusion, is designed to bring benefits to Canadian society as well as an offer of a better life to immigrants, refugees, and their immediate families. It is not only the Canadian economy that feels the effects of immigration. Accordingly, this domain will look at the social and cultural effects of immigration and diversity on Canada and will determine the extent to which there are risks to societal well-being, to full participation of the members of these groups as citizens, and to the cohesion of Canadian society overall and in its regions.

JUSTICE, POLICING AND SECURITY

Dr. Chris Murphy, Sociology and Social Anthropology, Dalhousie University

Domain Researchers / Members:

Marguerite Cassin, (Public Administration, Dalhousie University) ; Lee Cohen (Halifax Refugee Clinic) ; Mirsada Karabegovic (Dalhousie Law School) ; Don Clairmont (Sociology and Anthropology, Dalhousie University) ; Val Marie Johnson (Sociology and Criminology, Saint Mary's University) ; Kamel Khiari (Sciences sociales, Université de Moncton) ; Jean Francois Thibault (Science politique, Université de Moncton) ; Marjorie Stone (English/Gender Studies, Dalhousie University) ; Jimmy Bourque (DESRH, Université de Moncton) ; Prof. Constance Macintosh (Dalhousie Law School) ; Paul McKenna, (Interdisciplinary Ph.D. Student, Dalhousie University) ; Chris Giacomantoni (M.A. Student, Dalhousie University)

Governmental / Community Partners:

RCMP (Halifax) ; Public Safety Canada ; Department of Justice Canada ; Nova Scotia Law Reform Commission ; NS Department of Justice ; Halifax Regional Police

Research Domain Objectives:

Concerns over social cohesion and national security, especially the contemporary preoccupation with terrorism, have raised the public profile of debate surrounding how Canada and its justice and security systems can ensure a balanced and fair approach to an increasingly diverse population - to maintain order, public safety and national security while preserving civil liberties and the Canadian multicultural model of an open, diverse society.

APPENDIX 6: 10TH NATIONAL METROPOLIS CONFERENCE

10th National Metropolis Conference
April 3 to 6, 2008 – World Trade and Convention Centre, Halifax, Nova Scotia

Summary

The Atlantic Metropolis Centre organized the 10th National Metropolis Conference, entitled “Expanding the Debate: Multiple Perspectives on Immigration to Canada.” The event took place at the World Trade and Convention Centre in Halifax, from April 3 to 6, 2008. The conference was both the first national conference to be held in Atlantic Canada, and the first national conference of Phase III of the Metropolis Project. It brought together over 960 academic researchers, policymakers, and representatives from non-governmental organizations and students from across the country and beyond to discuss issues relating to immigration, population migrations and cultural diversity in Canada. The event provided an interactive, multi-disciplinary and cross-sectoral forum to explore how immigration and diversity vary across the country, particularly in regions that have not experienced high levels of immigration recently.

The 10th National Conference was also a showcase for the six priority areas that will guide Metropolis in the coming five years: 1) citizenship and social, cultural and civic integration; 2) economic and labour market integration; 3) family, children and youth; 4) housing and neighbourhoods; 5) policing, security and justice; and 6) welcoming communities. Over the course of the conference’s plenary sessions, presentation workshops, training workshops and poster presentations, conference delegates engaged in interactive knowledge transfer and exchange of research findings informing areas of key policy, community and academic interest.

The conference programme included a total of 6 plenary sessions, 72 workshops (12 double-length and 60 single), 27 roundtables and 18 poster presentations.

Conference Programme

Plenaries

The conference featured six bilingual plenary sessions, each showcasing a dimension of one of the priority research areas for Phase III. Each session featured local, national and international speakers from academic, government and community backgrounds. New this year, the plenary format was interactive and discussion-based, allowing each speaker to respond to questions posed by a moderator. The topic areas, each corresponding to one of the six priority research areas, were:

- a) The Role of Host Communities in Attracting, Retaining Newcomers and Minorities
- b) The Role of Families in Integration

- c) Temporary Migration – A Solution to Labour Market Responsiveness?
- d) Serving a Diverse Population
- e) Does a Commitment to Citizenship, Inclusion and Integration Prevent Extremism and Radicalization?
- f) Is Residential Concentration a Barrier to Social Integration?

- a) Le rôle des communautés d'accueil dans l'attraction et la rétention des nouveaux arrivants et des minorités
- b) Le rôle des familles dans l'intégration
- c) La migration temporaire, une solution pour répondre aux besoins du marché du travail?
- d) Offrir des services à une population diversifiée
- e) Le souci de favoriser la citoyenneté, l'inclusion et l'intégration prévient-il l'extrémisme et la radicalisation?
- f) La concentration résidentielle représente-t-elle un obstacle à l'intégration sociale?

Workshops, Roundtables and Poster Presentations

In addition to the plenary sessions, the 2008 conference programme included presentation and training workshops, roundtable workshops and poster presentations.

Workshops

Through the proposal submission process, workshop organizers were asked to include speakers from more than one province and involve NGO, government and academic perspectives. Workshops covered a wide range of topics relating to the priority areas of Metropolis. While most workshops were presentation-based, focusing on a specific question or theme, the programme also included a number of training workshops, which introduced participants to specific programs or pathways to accessing data. The normal length for a workshop was 90 minutes, although there were also a number of double workshops of three hours.

Roundtables

Roundtable sessions were first introduced at the 9th National Conference in Toronto and due to their success, they were included once again in this year's programme. Roundtables provided participants with an opportunity to engage in issues in an in-depth and meaningful way. They also provided an excellent networking opportunity for participants from different sectors working on similar issues. Most sessions were limited to ten participants but several were much larger due to the popularity of the topic.

Poster Presentations

Poster presentations allowed participants, including graduate students, academics and members of community organizations, to present their work and research outside of the workshop setting. This format was most conducive to work with results which could be displayed visually through charts or graphs, photographs, maps or other means. The posters were on display throughout the conference in the room where delegates gathered for breakfast, lunch and nutrition breaks. During the opening reception the authors were on hand to present their work.

Pre-conference events

A key part of this year's conference was the pre-conference programme, which included study tours, workshops and the Graduate Professional Development Day.

Study Tours

This year's study tours focused on the past and present of immigration and diversity in Atlantic Canada. Registration for all three tours reached capacity.

Guided tour of Pier 21

Participants received a guided tour of Pier 21, a National Historic Site and museum housed in a structure that served as the entry point to Canada for over 1 million immigrants between 1928 and 1971. The museum at Pier 21 contains exhibits that explore cultural heritage, construction of national identity, and the history of immigration. The tour also included a presentation on an employment programme called "Welcome Home to Canada," through which new Canadians gain work experience at Pier 21.

Tour of MISA and HILC

Participants on this tour visited the Metropolitan Immigrant Settlement Association and the Halifax Immigrant Learning Centre (MISA/HILC). Staff provided a tour of the facilities and gave an overview of programmes and services offered. Participants also partook in a discussion addressing the challenges and opportunities facing immigrants who settle in smaller cities.

Black Heritage Tour

Nova Scotia is home to the northern-most indigenous black population in the North America, currently marking 400 years of permanent settlement. While African-Canadians, both new and long-time Nova Scotians, now live across the Halifax Regional Municipality, several areas of the city are of particular historic and contemporary importance to black culture. Participants on this tour visited a number of such sites including the Black Cultural Centre for Nova Scotia, the location of the former Africville village, and the United Baptist Church.

Creative Diversity

Recognizing that performing arts often reflect social and cultural transformations related to migration, a number of local venues programmed exhibits, performances and film series relating to Metropolis themes during the conference. These events, organized by AMC partners, were cross-promoted through the conference under the title of "Creative Diversity: Artistic Perspectives on Immigration to Canada." A highlight of the Creative Diversity programme was the Newcomer Artist Project, a curated exhibit featuring immigrant artists from across Atlantic Canada.

Graduate Student Professional Development Day

The Graduate Student Professional Development Day took place on Thursday, April 3rd and was attended by approximately 45 students. The agenda consisted of four presentation sessions: working in Academia; working in the community/NGO sector; working in government; and bridging policy and research. The grad day was organized by AMC staff and student volunteers, under the guidance of Marguerite Cassin.

Pre-Conference Workshops

Francophone Migration

The Université de Moncton node of the Atlantic Metropolis Centre organized two pre-conference events addressing francophone and rural migration and immigration in francophone minority communities. The first of these events took place several months prior to the national conference, in November, 2007 in Pointe-à-l'Eglise, Nova Scotia. This event drew approximately 80 participants from across Atlantic Canada who gathered to discuss challenges associated with the regionalization of immigration in rural communities. The second event was a pre-conference day, "Francophone immigration and diversity," at the Université de Moncton on April 2, 2008. The agenda included four panels addressing the following themes: an international overview of francophone migration, recruitment issues, new frontiers of francophone identity, and barriers to integration.

Family Migration

The Family Migration pre-conference workshop, organized by Madine VanderPlaat and Laure Lafrance, took place on Thursday, April 3rd. The workshop included panel presentations on national and international research and comparative perspectives on family and (im)migration over the life course. Topics addressed include migration and motherhood, immigrant and newcomer children and youth, immigrant families and parenting, and immigrant seniors. Approximately 30 conference delegates were in attendance.

Other Meetings

In addition to the formal program, the 10th National Metropolis Conference provided an opportunity for conference delegates to meet to discuss current work, future projects, research directions and different forms of collaboration. The Metropolis Secretariat took advantage of the conference to organize meetings of several committees, including the Priority Leaders and Domain Leaders, the Data Committee, the Web Committee, and the Metropolis Joint Committee. These meetings provided a face to face opportunity to discuss the first year of Phase III and future initiatives.

Conference planning

The 10th National Metropolis Conference was organized by the Atlantic Metropolis Centre. This was the first time the AMC had been involved in the planning of an event of this scale. Due to this lack of institutional knowledge, and the fact that the AMC lacks the staff capacity that exists at the other centres, Compart Event Planning was contracted to provide planning services, under the supervision of the AMC. Director, Madine VanderPlaat acted as Chair of conference planning and was supported by the AMC staff in Halifax and Moncton and Directors Chedly Belkhodja, Marjorie Stone (until June, 2007) and Marguerite Cassin (who replaced Marjorie Stone as Director in June, 2007). A working committee composed of the AMC Directors, the Chair of the AMC Board of Directors, representatives from the Metropolis Secretariat and the AMC Coordinator met bi-monthly leading up to the conference. The AMC Board of Directors, AMC partners and stakeholders contributed in an advisory capacity. Several individuals also contributed to the planning of the Creative Diversity Events and the Graduate Professional Development Day. Jon Stone, Communications Director for CIC Atlantic, managed conference media relations with the assistance of a journalism student, Gina Sutherland. Priority Leaders and Domain Leaders from across the country were involved in the workshop review process.

Inclusivity and Training Opportunities

Efforts were made to ensure that the conference was as inclusive as possible. Each plenary session included a balance of regional representatives, NGO representatives, academics and policymakers. The criteria for the evaluation of proposed workshops included pan-Canadian and cross-sectoral representation.

Citizenship and Immigration Canada contributed $7,000 per centre to provide travel, registration and accommodation subsidies for representatives of NGOs (settlement organizations, cultural groups, community organizations, etc.)

Human Resources and Social Development Canada (HRSD) contributed $7,000 per centre to support the participation of graduate students at the conference. This funding was administered through each of the five centres, and covered travel, accommodation and registration costs for upwards of 30 students in total. At the Atlantic Metropolis Centre alone, 18 students were subsidized, due to the fact that many students required funding only to cover registration costs.

In order to further increase the level of access to the conference among students and community-based participants, full and day registration for these groups was offered at a discounted rate. Furthermore, local students were invited to volunteer at the conference in exchange for complimentary registration.

Thanks to funding and volunteer opportunities, the conference was a significant training opportunity for graduate students and senior undergraduates, many of whom had not previously participated in conferences.

Feedback from delegates

Comments on the conference were overwhelmingly positive. The evaluation forms were distributed a week after the conference via email with a return rate of approximately 30 per cent. Unsolicited verbal feedback was also received throughout the conference by AMC staff and organizers. Only a small percentage of comments offered suggestions for improvement.

Examples of comments:

“I wanted to thank-you for the wonderful learning opportunity that the Metropolis Conference offered me. I learnt many new issues, concerns, approaches and more (still trying to sort them all out). One of the most important results of this conference was the networking opportunities. I was able to make connections and seek commitments for further meetings on immigration issues with all stakeholder groups... This is great. “ (comment from an invited plenary speaker).

“I wanted to ... congratulate you on the remarkable success of the National Metropolis Conference. The plenaries were among the best I have ever witnessed, the sessions were excellent, the atmosphere was welcoming and electric at the same time and Saturday evening was... well, it was true Atlantic hospitality... I went home on Sunday afternoon feeling energized – that’s a real feat and testament to the quality of the content. Thank you.” (comment from a subsidized NGO, also an AMC partner).

Media Coverage

There was a significant amount of local, regional and national media coverage of the conference. Jon Stone, Communications Director for CIC Atlantic, managed media relations with the help of Gina Sutherland, a journalism student assistant. News releases were circulated a week prior to the conference to print, radio and television media outlets. Coverage highlights included live broadcast of the plenary sessions on CPAC and live on-site interviews with high profile delegates on CBC radio Nova Scotia.

Constructive Comments

A suggestion which emerged from last year’s conference which was not implemented as well as it could have been is to ensure that individuals submitting workshop proposals are aware of the differences between presentation workshops and roundtables. A related issue is that some roundtables proved to be very popular and the space where they were held could not accommodate all of the delegates who wished to take part. In the future, care should be taken to ensure that workshops and roundtables which are expected to be popular are held in appropriately sized rooms.

Budget

Since this year’s conference fell in the 2008-09 fiscal year the final budget was not available in time to be included in the Annual Report. However, due to much higher than anticipated registration numbers, expenditures are not expected to exceed revenues. A full budget will be available in summer, 2008 and included in next year's Annual Report.

Dissemination

Presenters in workshop sessions were given the option of making their presentations available online after the conference. Although complete proceedings are not available, due to the fact that not all presenters consented to the use of their material, the collection includes a large number of presentations. The plenary sessions were recorded for live broadcast by CPAC and have been made available on the CPAC website. Since this recording was designed for televised broadcast, it is very high quality and well-edited. Links to these videos are have been added to the Metropolis websites. CPAC will also provide DVD copies of the plenary sessions to the Metropolis Secretariat and the AMC. The fact that workshop presentations and plenary sessions can be disseminated on the web significantly increases access to the knowledge and research shared among conference-goers and others.
